"A Wild Flower of the Hills"

The above play will be presented by the Brethren Church young people, in the school auditorium, on Friday, March 9th. Following is a synopsis of the play and a cast of the characters:

Life is no bed of roses for Chloe, the sixteen-year-old waif, who was reared poorly by the Burkes in the Kentucky Hills and is systematically abused and despised by Mrs. Burke because her parents were circus performers. In self-defense she defies the authority of John Burke, a young aviator, eldest son and head of the family, turning for refuge to her only friends, good old Mammy and the mysterious wanderer, Snow-White, who watches over her like a father. Her attitude toward John changes, however, when he becomes blind from an airplane accident. With the aid of the Snow-White, she is able to foil the plots of his enemies, a group of moonshiners. Eventually hate turns to love and the little waif comes into her own as heiress of an old Southern family. A gripping story, rich in heart interest. Cast includes a crafty attorney, his designing sister, the aviator's jealous younger brother, also a lazy dandy and his wife, who furnish much of the comedy element. It will be well worth your time to see it. Remember the date, March 2nd, at the school at 8 o'clock.

Cast of characters are in order of their first appearance:
Mammy — Ruth Rubaker
Old Colored Servant at Burkes
Lily — Evelyn Burries

Increased Flax Production Would Help Agricultural Problem

A careful investigation of commercial grains reveals the fact that the only grain which stands out in contrast to the conditions of world surplus is flax.

During the past few years the Canadian Flax crop has been so small and of such minor importance that little attention has been paid to it.

In 1925 Canada's flax crop, from an acreage of over 1,000,000 acres, was 9 1/2 million bushels, of which nearly 5,500,000 were exported to the United States. That year the United States imported some 16 1/2 million bushels, so that Canada supplied 25% of these imports.

In 1933 Canada seeded 243,000 acres of flax, harvested a crop of 625,000 bushels and exported 3/4 million bushels or 4% of the United States requirements for that year. Canada actually imported 8,000,000 to 25,000,000 bushels, it might appear that no country could be in a more favorable position for exports.

At the present time flax is worth about 1 1/4 times as much as wheat and there is every reason to suppose that this ratio will continue favorable for the next year or so.

Seed flax is used chiefly for the production of linseed oil. The seed yields over 18 pounds of oil per bushel of 26 pounds, or about one-third its weight.—From a memorandum on the Canadian Flax Situation, prepared by L. M. McCabe, of Winnipeg. Those interested can see the memorandum in full at the printing office.

"Crooks for a Month"

On February 23rd we had the good fortune to witness the display of much local talent.

The High School staged their annual play, which was sponsored by the Literary Society.

Mr. Bentwood, played by Donald Vancil, was a blustering real estate agent, who won our admiration by his sincere efforts to keep his home together and his son in college.

Mrs. Bentwood, played by Clara Service, was a very likeable person who did a great deal to keep peace in the family. She willingly aided her husband when they were forced to economize but showed a strong desire to invest a considerable sum of money in a "O-A-R".

Margorie Leonard, as Doris, was the charming daughter of the soap-hating Mr. Bentwood. She won our hearts right from the first and we are sure that there were those among us who hated to see her thrown at Jack York, as one way of aiding the family economizing scheme.

Clarence Norton, as Windfield Bentwood, was a typical college youth, good-looking, neat-appearing, with an eye for the girls, ready for any devilment, looking for something easy, above all things—ALWAYS broke. His appeal for more spending money was pathetic and his determination to sell soap certainly branded him as a chip off the old block—nothing for something, anything to make a sale. His lingo about the soap was almost convincing until he started talking about the teeth marks and then we knew he was only trying to blow bubbles—all he wanted was a drink of water. In Act III he showed his true character as a preoccupied lover. It is regrettable that the porch wasn't one which was just glassed-in.

June Clifford, as Hilda Fields, was very attractive and proved to be quite a go-between for the unhappy Doris and the dreamer, Jack York.

Margaret Fisher, as Eunice Cissels, played opposite Clarence Norton. The part was very well taken but we cannot understand why she showed such a marked distrust of and curiosity about her sworn admirer.

Floyd Cary, as Marty Copping, was a worthy accomplice of the master crook! Some of his ideas and suggestions were quite human, almost sensible. But boy must have a ravenous appetite.

There was certainly spontaneous consumption the way he went after those doughnuts. But say, did you notice that he nearly choked himself on the hole in the last one? I was afraid he had swallowed his Adam's Apple and left the hole in his throat—really! He made a hideous Hindu in Act II. And how he can "ahimmy," the old Pump on his head on him.

Teddy Weiss, as Mr. Foodick, was very staid, sophisticated, dignified, even superb. We have a feeling that it was a very difficult role for our mischievous Teddy.

Joe Danka, as Jack York, was certainly a dreamer, an idealist, a clear-voyant, a great deceiver, a bargain seeker, a smooth-tongued college boy, a mysterious and elusive Hindu. Joe ought to have a good "red pump on his head" as a result of the "fanning" he received at the hands of his servant. Joe had a very heavy role to play and must be complimented for the way he carried it off.

During the intermissions musical numbers were pleasingly rendered by Mrs. A. Phillips and Mr. E. Ross. These numbers were greatly appreciated by the audience who were present in good numbers, considering the weather and the "bunchies."

The stage was attractively arranged and many thanks are extended to those who contributed properties.

Last but not least, a word about the man behind the scenes, the hand on the throttle, the eye at the periscope, the wrench in the works (?), the cream in the coffee, Mr. Harry McCullough directed the play in a very capable and satisfactory way. Much of the clever acting was the result of his leadership and coaching.

Church of the Brethren Notes

"Wanted! A Man!" This is the Pastor's theme for next Sunday evening. A special invitation is extended to the men of the community to attend this service. Bring your wife and children, or your friend. Sunday morning subject, "The Manhood of Jesus."

A three-hour Good Friday service is being arranged. We extend an urgent appeal to the people of Arrowwood and vicinity to unite with us at this solemn occasion, celebrating the crucifixion of our Lord. We rejoice that the public schools honor this day, March 30, by making it part of the spring vacation. Thus the school pupils can attend the service. There will be seven talks, interspersed with scriptures, prayers, hymns and other music. Service begins promptly at 12 o'clock and lasts until 3 p.m., corresponding with the hours of the Lord's crucifixion.

Another of these enjoyable occasions, which we know as a charity, took place last Monday night to celebrate the marriage of Miss May Campbell to Mr. Richard Hurl, which took place recently. As per arrangement a number of friends, sympathizers and others met at the home of Bob, Beaumont and proceeded to the Campbell home, from there they escorted the victims to the Mossleigh Hall, where the good things were generously distributed. Dancing followed and was enjoyed until a late hour, when everyone left for home well satisfied with the pleasant time, some intending to profit by the experience — we wish them the best of luck. The young couple will make their home in the Sunset district, where they have rented a farm. The bride is well known in Arrowwood, at one time she resided with Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Board, while attending school.

In January 1934, 500 commercial vessels passed through the Panama Canal, paying $2,400,679.83 in tolls, according to an announcement by the United States War Department. In the same month of 1933, 415 commercial vessels passed through the Canal, paying $1,762,808.96 in tolls. Miss Dorothy Standish, of Banff, is now "Queen Dorothy" of the 1934 Banff Winter Carnival. She was escorted down the aisle at the ballroom where the function took place, knelt at the feet of the late Queen, Miss Violet Davis, of Edmonton, and was crowned by her. Queen Dorothy thanked her subjects and expressed the hope she would make as good a queen as her predecessor on the throne.

Something new in skiing has evolved in the Laurentians, skiers' paradise to the north of Montreal. This is the "Pyrex Kilometers" claimed to be the first time ever tried out on the American continent. Participants wore crash helmets and ran the race down a specially prepared 35 degree slope. A speed of 53 miles an hour was recorded.

"The dogs like altitude" was the comment of Tom Wheeler, well-known eastern Canada musher, as his team of huskies swept over Montreal in a six-lap race, heading for the Lacoma, New Hampshire, Dog Derby as a test for the Quebec International Dog Derby in which he is also engaged.

No less warm for being a trifle overdue, 600 Winnipeg sportsmen underwent banquet and presentations to the Winnipeg Rugby team at the Royal Alexandra Hotel in that city recently. They were in the play-offs for the Dominion Rugby championship last Fall.

It may look like a long winter this time of year, but A. D. Bain, manager of Canadian Pacific mountain hotels and bungalow camps in the Rockies states they will be opened earlier this year on account of large conventions scheduled for the latter part of June. June 22 was stated by Mr. Bain to be the date when they would be opened.

A New Version of "The Ninety and Nine"

(Dedicated to God for "The ninety and nine" within the fold who are indifferent and back-slidden, and for earth's perishing millions outside.)

There are ninety and nine that safely lie

In the shelter of the fold;

But millions are left outside to die,

For ninety and nine are cold.

Away in sin's delusive snare,

Hastening to death and dark despair,

Hastening to death and none to care,—

For the ninety and nine are cold.

"Lord, Thou hast here Thy well-fed sheep;

Are they not enough for Thee?"

But the Shepherd made answer, "Millions sleep

On the brink of eternity,—

And these My sheep within the fold

Care not for the dying in sin's stronghold,

Care not for the dying outside the fold,

On the brink of eternity?

But none of the ransomed ever knew

How the heart of the Shepherd did yearn;

Nor the travail of soul that He passed through

For His sheep without concern.

For no other way had He to reach

The millions of earth His way to teach,

The millions of earth except through each

Of his sheep without concern.

"Lord, whence are those marks in hands and side

And whence the scars of Thy flesh?"

They were made for those for whom I died,

Both saved and wondering sheep."

"Lord, when wilt Thou come to claim Thine own?"

"Not till the wandering way are shown,

Not till the wandering My Word have known,

My wandering, dying sheep."

Ah, ninety and nine, dost thou hear His voice?

Forth then to the work so great;

Beyond life's span there is no choice

For those outside the gate.

If they're brought at all, it must be now,—

Then, ninety and nine, don't question how,

Oh, sheep of mine, go quickly thou,

Else for them—and you—too late.

But all through the churches, apostate-riven,

And up from the world's rough steep,

There'll arise a glad cry to the gates of heaven,

"Rejoice, I am finding My sheep!"

And the angels shall echo around the throne,

"Rejoice, for the dying way are shown!"

Rejoice, for the Shepherd brings back His own,

His wandering, perishing sheep!"

A Better Feeling

There is a general wave of optimism for better times prevailing throughout the country. If the price of farm commodities advance as they should, it looks to us as though we must at last be hearing that much talked of corner.

If you need more equipment for your farm operations, weather new or second hand, come in and talk it over with us, we may be able to supply your needs in just what you are looking for—weather tiller, tractor, tiller, wheelbarrow, or drill.

One of the best things to make your harness look good and last longer, is to give them a thorough oiling. We carry the regular harness oil as well as Neatsfoot oil in any quantity you want.

Our British American Autolene oils may cost a few cents more per gallon than some other Motor Oils, but we believe you will be well repaid by the saving it will effect in the life of your motor. We have it in a weight for every use and purpose.

If you cannot invest in a new mill for cleaning your seed grain, we can rent you a cleaner at a nominal charge.
